CAPITAL SEES MINE THREAT ON EAST COAST

Expects Action to Follow
In Wake of Submarine
Raids by Axis

VICTORY OF SOME TYPE BADLY NEEDED

Raider's Appearance Timed
For Opening of Pan-
American Rally

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. — The Axis undersea campaign extending the battle of the Atlantic to American shores today brought the threat of enemy mines, as well as torpedoes, to east coast shipping lanes.

Mine played an important part in U-boat successes in coastal waters during 1918, and it was fully expected here that the present trans-Atlantic raiders would resort to similar methods to boost their bag of tonnage.

Axis Needs a Victory

There was a growing suspicion that a pressing Axis need for some quick and showy successes promoted the present raid as much as any military consideration.

One coincidence that did not completely escape the capital's notice was that the raider's appearance almost in the wake of the Statue of Liberty was timed nicely for the opening of the Pan-American conference.

The Italian press yesterday expressed "tormented" concern lest the result of the conference would be the solid alignment of South America against the new order. Informed sources here noted that the Axis had frequently resorted to the implied technique.

The bold undersea foray, it was pointed out, might well serve even more apparent propaganda purposes. The most obvious was the "we-with-you" gesture to Tokyo, which has yet to join the Rome-Berlin end of the Axis in war against the Soviets. There was also the hypodermic effect that spectacular raiding might have on the German and Italian home fronts after the depressing reverses in Russia and Libya. And there was Vichy, which has shown less "collaboration" zeal since the United States entered the conflict.

Not Strictly Military

Two things about the current raid led some familiar with submarine warfare to be somewhat dubious that its purpose was strictly military. They pointed out that it was a punishing season of the year for trans-Atlantic submarine operations—the World War raiders all waited for summer weather—and that the first sinking reported was noteworthy in one respect for

Crew of Torpedoed Tanker Reaches Safety at Newport

Captain Harold Hansen (wearing cap), skipper of the torpedoed tanker Nornew, makes an impromptu V for victory symbol with Mayor Herbert McCauley of Newport, R. I., after he and members of his crew were brought to Newport by rescuers. The Nornew was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine 60 miles off the tip of Long Island, New York, in the first attack by enemy subs in American coastal waters since the war began.

REDS SMASH AT TAGANROG

Russians Pressing General
Offense Through Ukraine

(By Associated Press)
Masses of Russian tanks were reported smashing today at the gates of German-held Taganrog, 40 miles west of Rostov-on-Don. As Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's Red armies pressed a general counter-offensive through the Ukraine and tightened a trap on 100,000 Germans in the Crimea. "The Soviet forces are now battering fiercely at the gates of Taganrog," a British radio broadcast said.

Direction Not Given

The direction of the Soviet thrust against Simferopol was not given—whether executed by troops driving westward across the Peninsula from Kerch and Feodosiya; from beachheads at Yevpatoriya on the west coast, or from Sevastopol itself. In any case, the threat against the main north-south rail line at Simferopol sharply endangered the Germans' chances of escaping.

On the basis of previous Soviet reports, the German forces at Taganrog had long since been isolated by Russian columns which by-passed the city in pursuit of the main Axis armies retreating along the Sea of Azov toward Mariupol. Soviet front-line dispatches chronicled an unbroken series of Russian triumphs along the entire 1,200-mile battlefield from Leningrad to the Black sea.

In the northeast Ukraine, Red army troops were reported heavily assaulting German forces at Khar'kov, Russia, "Pittsburgh" of the Donets river industrial basin, after piercing the city's outer defenses at several points.

On the central front, the phrase "history repeats itself" took on

OFFICIALS STUDY WAR-TIME PROGRAM

Fire Chief Vincent Malloy and Lieut. James Hinkle of the fire department and Police Chief Ralph Stoffer and Patrolmen Nerr Gaunt were back at their jobs today after attending a civilian and industrial protection institute in Columbus Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Malloy addressed a meeting of manufacturers from northern Columbiana county last night at the Cape hotel. He later conferred with fire chiefs of the district at a meeting in city hall.

Plans for protecting communities in a time of war were discussed thoroughly at the Columbus rally.

NURSES TO START REVIEW CLASSES

Arrangements are being made by the committee on national defense of District No. 3, Ohio State Nurses Association, to start review classes for registered nurses who have not been actively engaged in nursing recently due to retirement or marriage.

All those interested in preparing themselves for volunteer service in their own communities should discuss or epidemic occur, are asked to get in touch with Miss Anna Thomas, 315 Ohio ave., phone 3212. Miss Thomas is chairman for Columbiana county.

Classes are expected to start at Salem City hospital Monday, Jan. 26. A meeting of all registered nurses in the county will be held at the Hannah E. Mullins Nurses home in Salem at 8 p. m. next Friday. Miss Marie Fawcett of North Side unit of Youngstown City hospital will discuss plans for the review classes. Miss Fawcett is chairman of the committee on national defense for District No. 3.

Awaits Chance For New Shot at Japs

Safe and sound and awaiting his chance for revenge against the Japs as a result of their sneak attack on Pearl Harbor last Dec. 7 is Corp. W. E. McLaughlin, former Salem lad.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer McLaughlin of Sebring, Corp. McLaughlin has spent most of his life with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fuhr of R. D. 2, Salem. He has been in service with the United States marines for more than two years. He has been serving with Battery D, Third defense battalion, at Pearl Harbor.

HUNT CREW OF SUNKEN SHIP

Coast Guards Press Search
After Report of Second
Torpedoing

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A search for survivors of a second tanker reported attacked off Long Island was pressed today after darkness last night cut short a fruitless day-long hunt.

Coast guard vessels and planes were on the alert for a stricken craft in nearby waters despite the absence of naval confirmation of the reported attack.

First word of a new enemy thrust less than 20 miles off the Long Island shore came from Quogue (L. I.) coast guard officials yesterday. Nevertheless, navy authorities

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The navy confirmed today that a merchant vessel had been sunk yesterday off the south shore of Long Island.

The vessel was an Allied merchant vessel of foreign registry, the navy said, officially corroborating the account of a submarine action given out yesterday by the coast guard at Quogue, Long Island. The navy said survivors were being brought in, but that it did not know their whereabouts.

The name of the ship, second to be attacked in New York waters in two days, was not divulged, nor was its type.

A mix-up in naval communications was said to have caused the delay in official confirmation.

In New York and Washington early today said they still had no information of such an attack. The blanket of silence on whether there had been an attack similar to the torpedoing Wednesday of the Panamanian tanker Nornew 60 miles southeast of Montauk Point came after Quogue coast guard officials reported that one of their patrol planes had sighted an unidentified tanker which had been attacked by enemy warcraft.

PRE-MEDICAL TEST PLANNED BY BOARD

LISBON, Jan. 16.—A new procedure in the examination of draftees was announced today by Chairman W. D. Morris of board No. 3, who stated registrants will receive pre-medical examinations by physicians of the district certified by the board, prior to the final examinations at Canton. The preliminary checkup will eliminate possibilities of many deferrals in the final physical examination.

Morris said that, following the initial checkup and classification, the registrant will have a 10-day period for appeal prior to the final examination, but that no appeal will be possible following the latter and no case will be reopened.

COUNTY PUTS SALARIES ON MONTHLY BASE

Commissioners Approve
Budget of $407,162
For Year

APPROPRIATE PAY FOR MONTH ONLY

Legality of Plan Questioned by Auditor and Prosecutor

BULLETIN
Columbiana county commissioners, acting upon the recommendation of Prosecutor Frank Springer, this afternoon appropriated the $81,248 which they failed to allocate for salary purposes when the county's annual appropriation measure was adopted Thursday.

LISBON, Jan. 16.—Over the protests of some departmental executives, county commissioners late yesterday approved a $407,162.41 appropriation measure for 1942 which filed to "ear-mark" salary needs for the year, except for the current month. The 1941 appropriation was $411,000.

The legality of the legislation, which calls for drastic cuts in all county offices, was questioned by County Auditor Ross Fisher and Prosecutor Frank Springer on the grounds that an annual appropriation must include appropriations for the entire year, not partial allotments as approved by the commissioners Thursday.

Cites General Code
The prosecutor cited provisions of the Ohio general code in calling the commissioners' attention to the mistake they had made in not transferring salary funds for the 12 months.

In anticipation of cuts in personnel of the various courthouse offices due to the decreases, the commissioners established a $6,600 fund for "floating" clerk hire, to be administered by the commissioners' office.

This met the protest of office holders who claimed that the commissioners had no legal authority to make appointments in other offices.

The January payroll appropriation approved by the commissioners totals $10,436, in excess of the anticipated monthly payroll requirements of the remaining months, but made, the commissioners pointed out, in order that county officials might have an opportunity

ODD FELLOWS PLAN FATHER, SON DINNER

Amity Lodge No. 124, I. O. O. F., will hold its annual Father and Son banquet in the lodge rooms at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist church, as principal speaker.

Salem High school students will be heard in musical numbers. Other entertainment is planned. The Rebekah lodge will serve the dinner.

The Rebekahs will entertain members of Amity lodge with a covered dinner at 6:30 tonight in honor of Thomas Wildey, founder of the order.

Amity lodge will install new officers at the regular meeting, Jan. 22. The installing team will be from Alliance.

FIVE DRAW FINES ON TRAFFIC COUNTS

Five motorists drew fines following arrests by Salem state highway patrolmen yesterday.

Robert Ford, 21, of Lisbon, and Tony Caserta, 23, of Alliance, charged with speeding, were fined $10 and costs each by Mayor R. R. Johnson.

James Knag, 25, of 395 W. Pershing st., and George Davison, 41, of Greenford, arrested on speeding charges, were fined $10 and costs each in Mayor Lloyd Culler's court at Washingtonville.

William Chubb, 66, of R. D. Canfield charged with failing to observe a stop sign, was fined $5 and costs in the mayor's court at Canfield.

Nipponese Armored Units Are Smashed With Heavy Losses

Arrival of Fighting Aussies Like Tonic To Tired English
Troops; Air Force Hits at Points Behind
Invaders' Lines

(By The Associated Press)
SINGAPORE, Jan. 16.—Rallying around a fresh force of battle-hungry and jungle-wise Australians, the British imperial defenders of Singapore appeared today to have checked the Japanese in their offensive toward this vital Oriental base.

Two Japanese armored units were reported shattered by the stiffened defense all along a shortened front in lower Malaya, aided by considerable aerial support.

While the air force smashed at Japanese truck and railway concentrations near Tampin, 120 miles northwest of Singapore, British imperials fighting with fresh fury in the coastal strip north of the Malacca plain claimed to have knocked out 14 Japanese tanks and 10 armored vehicles. An official communique said advance guards of the Australians smashed six more tanks and inflicted heavy casualties in their first battle since the Malayan invasion began, in the eastern part of Negri Sembilan state.

(BBC, quoting a Reuters dispatch on the Malacca coastal strip engagement, said "an enemy armored column was allowed to advance over a bridge prepared for demolition. When the column passed over the bridge, it was blown up and the enemy engaged by artillery. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese and they ran for cover." The broadcast was heard in New York by CBS.)

FIRST TIRES RATIONED OUT

Five Truck Operators Given
Two Apiece by Loca! Board

Frank Muntz of N. Ellsworth ave., a trucker who hauls for the E. W. Bliss Co., which has defense contracts, was awarded the first set of tires by the Salem tire rationing board when the group met Thursday night at the Memorial building to act upon the initial batch of applications for tires and tubes.

Muntz was awarded a certificate for the purchase of two truck tires and tubes.

John Gunesh of R. D. Salem, who is employed by the Carnegie Illinois Steel Corp. in Youngstown, was the only pleasure car applicant. He was granted permission to buy two obsolete tires for his 1931 model car. The tires are now considered an outmoded size and do not count against the Salem quota.

The board still has half of its January quota of nine light tires and tubes to fill. The board will endeavor to meet every Thursday night, members indicated, unless an emergency arises.

Truck tires and tubes also were awarded last night to Paul Wiggers, James Gurles and the Salem Concrete Supply Co., two apiece.

The Salem board has been given authority to approve the purchase of 24 heavy truck tires and tubes for the first part of January.

Urges Use of Recap Tires

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 16.—Ohio county tire rationing coordinators set out today to persuade applicants for new tires to buy used or recapped tires instead.

They acted upon the advice of Paul Morton of the Office of Price Administration, who also told them at a conference yesterday that shippers should divert cargoes to other means of transportation if sufficient truck tires were not available.

War and food production and distribution generally must be considered eligible for new tires, Morton said, adding that selective service board members were in the preferred class.

The coordinators, who will administer automobile rationing, were asked by the state defense council to report within a week the number of new cars to be required for essential services this year.

U. S. food and drug administration officials will be asked if beer is a food, Burt W. Griffith, Cuyahoga county tire coordinator said. A local board ruled beer was a food and granted a permit to the Lelsy Brewing Co. to purchase a tire and tube for each of six trucks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The Asiatic fleet has sunk three enemy transports and two large Japanese cargo vessels in the Far East.

These sinkings, announced today by the navy, brought to a total of 24 the number of Japanese warships and non-combatant vessels sunk by the United States navy and marine forces.

The navy communique, based on reports received up to 9 a. m., Eastern Standard Time today, reported the submarine menace to the northeast coast of the United States "remains unchanged."

Text of the communique:
"FAR EAST:
"Units of the U. S. Asiatic fleet report the sinking of five enemy vessels in Far Eastern waters. They include two large cargo ships, two large transports and one medium-sized transport. These sinkings are in addition to enemy casualties at sea previously reported.

"ATLANTIC AREA:
"The submarine situation along the northeast coast of the United States remains unchanged.

"There is nothing to report from other areas."

The success of Admiral Thomas C. Hart's Asiatic fleet in waging in fight against the Japanese, even though dispossessed of its base at Cavite, Philippine Islands, was underscored yesterday by the sinking of a speedy 17,000-ton Japanese passenger and cargo liner of the Yawata class.

The navy gave no names or identification of the five additional Japanese ships sent to the bottom. Japanese attack planes and dive bombers are being used incessantly against the front line and artillery positions of the American and Philippine defense forces on the island of Luzon.

The war department, reporting this today, said ground fighting of varying intensity also continued all along the front line, with Japanese shock troops attempting aggressive infiltration.

The department said in a communique that reports reaching general Douglas MacArthur, commanding the Philippine defenders, indicated the Japanese were looting and devastating the Philippine country-side systematically.

COLUMBIANA GETS
REDUCED MILLEAGE

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 16.—Taxpayers of the Columbiana exempted village school district have received the welcome news of a substantial reduction in the tax rate for 1942.

Four mills will be taken from the 1941 rate, as the board of education, due to the accumulation of a balance in the bond retirement fund during the past few years, now has sufficient funds on hand to meet all bond and interest requirements falling due in 1942.

However, for 1943, it will be necessary to restore at least part of the four-mill cut. As the 1941 rate for all purposes in the district was $17.50 mills, this cuts means that the 1942 rate will not be more than 13.50, unless additional millage is added for town or county purposes. This change was announced by President F. W. Trader, Carl Calvin, Clerk Leo E. Holloway and Supt. C. B. Riddle upon their return Thursday morning after a meeting with the Columbiana county budget commission.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Three new examining boards will be established in the Fifth corps area to handle the expected flood of applications for army aviation cadet scholarships.

Salem Boy Trains At Cimarron Field

Theodore (Ted) Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stewart of 534 N. Lincoln ave., is seeking his wings as an aviation cadet at Cimarron field, Oklahoma City, Okla.

Stewart who was graduated from Salem High school, also attended Ohio State university before he enlisted in the flying branch of the army.

Upon completion of 10 weeks of primary training at Cimarron field, he will be sent to one of the various air corps basic flying schools for an additional 10 weeks of training in heavier and faster planes.

Completing the entire course of 30 weeks he will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the air corps and will be sent either to tactical duty or named as an instructor.

NEW JOB FOR AN OLD OCCUPANT

Donald M. Nelson, named chairman of a new war production board that is supposed to break the red tape bottleneck in Washington, has fallen heir to all the words the news writers keep on tap for such occasions. He is going to be the "czar," the "dictator," the "big boss," the "Mr. Big" of United States war production.

Actually, what Mr. Nelson probably is going to be is an overworked businessman working for the United States, trying to get out more stuff in less time. It is virtually the same thing he has been doing for months under a different title carrying less authority. There is no increment of power for Mr. Nelson as an individual. The only thing different is his job.

It represents the federal government's attempt to get itself organized to make war. The United States has recent precedent for wartime organization, but it did learn in World War I that the devious processes of representative democracy must be trimmed down and streamlined before potential strength can be transformed into actual strength. Mr. Nelson happens to be the best available man to sit at the top of the streamlined organization, just as Bernard Baruch was in World War I.

Americans can reflect with real satisfaction that their "czars" are created to deal with extraordinary problems and can be eliminated at will by the same authority that created them: when the problem has been solved. They wish the best of luck to "Czar" Nelson—and may he share his newly acquired title graciously with the nation's only other official "czar"—Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

FOR THE SAKE OF ARGUMENT

It may be evident some day soon that Germany was over-rated as a military power. The possibility is sharpened by the prevailing tendency to guard against repeating the mistake of under-rating Adolf Hitler's war machine, a tendency becoming so extreme that all unfavorable news about the Germans is being scouted as propaganda.

Warnings are being issued against putting faith in stories of internal friction. The anti-Axis governments are reluctant to believe that Germany's retreat in Russia means what it seems to mean. In many ways, the impression is fostered that Germany can be as strong as it needs to be but doesn't need to be particularly strong at the moment—that it planned things this way.

However, it is not being forgotten that World War Germany collapsed unexpectedly after four and a half years of war and that Hitler's Germany was weaker at the outset of war in 1939 than the Kaiser's Germany. For the sake of argument, it is not wholly unreasonable to contend that Germany is at least as desperate as it seems to be; that it is suffering fatal stresses in Russia, in the Atlantic and in Africa. It certainly is reasonable to believe that the myth of German invulnerability nurtured by the pitiful unpreparedness of the French and the British in the early part of the war has been shot full of holes by the Russians. Supposedly inferior to the Germans in everything but numbers, the Russians nevertheless have been more than holding their own.

If, might do American morale less harm than good to begin taking stock in the inevitable collapse of Hitler's reign of grimaces and horror.

SIGN OF HEALTH IN WASHINGTON

The President's trouble over the price control bill, aside from whatever bearing the outcome may have on the legislation, may be regarded as a sign of a healthy legislative condition in Washington. Mr. Roosevelt has stepped on a congressional corn in attempting to influence the decision of a congressional conference committee. There were times when he could have done this with impunity—but apparently those times have changed.

The issue to be decided is not only whether the department of agriculture shall retain control over agricultural prices but also whether it is proper for an executive officer to intervene in a congressional process. It is not beyond the realm of possibility that congressmen, themselves, are more concerned over the preservation of their rights than the privilege of making price control safe for agriculture.

In 1932, when Herbert Hoover stepped out of line in the same way, John N. Garner, then speaker of the house, took the floor to protest. "I do not think it is in keeping with the Constitution," he said, "for the President of the United States to wait until a conference report was completed . . . then secure a copy of it and before the report was filed summon the conferees to the executive mansion for the purpose of telling them how they should correct their work. It ought not to be done; and I, on this floor, protest against it."

A child born on this day should be endowed with all the intellectual, cultural as well as personal and physical qualities making for a successful, happy and praise-worthy career.

AUSSIES ARE ON THE JOB

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Well, they've finally flung the Australians into the battle of Singapore, and Allied morale in those troubled parts has zoomed, as it always does when those rangy, fightin' fools go into action.

Unless the old signs have suddenly gone wrong on us, this means that the British have reached a position in their withdrawal down the Malayan peninsula where they figure not only on making a stand but on counter-attacking.

The Aussies are good in any type of fighting but they show best—and that means superbly—on the offensive. That probably is the reason they have been held in reserve until this crucial moment.

A commander doesn't just pick his troops haphazardly, unless he has to, but chooses them according to their racial temperament and capabilities. The very long suit of the Aussies is rip-roarin' attack, especially where there's hand-to-hand work with cold steel. We learned all that back in World War No. one.

By the way, the Australians in the last war thought the Yanks were great fellers, and the feeling was mutual.

The Australians have gone into the British line about 120 miles up the peninsula from Singapore. Meantime the initial stages of the actual siege of Singapore itself has begun, with the Japanese making heavy bombing raids on the island. Refugees have been pouring into Singapore from the mainland, and the authorities have prepared for eventualities by mining the great causeway which connects the island and the peninsula.

The greatest weakness of the British continues to be in warplanes, and it is likely that the battle will turn on air-power.

The Dutch have turned to with a will and are fighting over Singapore with their Allies. There also may be an indication that British air reinforcements are arriving as a communique from Singapore today states that "large forces" of British aircraft have been attacking the Japs on the peninsula.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT HYPNOTISM

Smart People Yield More Easily, Says Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

JUST as I was engaged in a learned study of the famous Mesmer, I found that hypnotism is having a new vogue as a stunt and a science.

The subject aroused a good deal of interest in my own circle of friends and I found that one of my medical colleagues had stated dramatically that hypnotism was all bunk and in fact, that there was no such thing.

Let me say at once that hypnotism is a very real and actual thing and there is no special mystery about it. The hypnotic state is induced most easily by the rhythmic stimulation of a single sense when all the other senses are at rest. In other words, if a person is put in a quiet room, in a chair, with all the muscles relaxed and all other lights out, and a light is flashed at regular intervals into his eyes, a state of hypnosis will result.

Suggestions and Suggestibility

There are exceptions to this, of course, because a state of hypnosis will not result in one hundred percent of instances of this kind—depending upon the suggestibility of the subject and his state of compliance with the experiment.

The same result can be obtained under the same conditions by substituting the rhythmic sound of a bell for the rhythmic flash of the light. The same condition can be obtained by rhythmic stroking of the face or by fixated staring at the eyes.

In other words, hypnotism is not a subjugation of the will of one person by the will of another.

No one can be hypnotized against his will. Suggestion and suggestibility of the subject are potent factors in induction of the hypnotic state.

Smart people are more easily hypnotized than stupid people. Idiots, imbeciles and morons can not be hypnotized at all, although curiously, some animals, as witness the famous experiment of the hen's being made to look fixated at a chalk line.

No Mystery

The hypnotic state is not mysterious either. Nobody can do more in the hypnotic state than he can normally. The only advantage of the hypnotic state is that every distraction to the unification of the will is removed. In other words, if you are not strong enough normally to lie cut stiff between two supporters' saw horses, supported only by your heels and the back of your head, you will not be able to do it in the hypnotic state. But in the hypnotic state, any distraction which weakens your muscles is removed, and you can do it better.

Whether or not suggestions made in the hypnotic state are effective.

How to make Pillsbury's Trio Layer Cake

3 big, delicious cakes in one!

Complete recipe:

1. Sift and measure 3 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour. (Two B-vitamins and iron are added to Pillsbury's Best—with no change in color, flavor, or baking quality.) Add 1/2 tsp. baking powder (or 2/3 tsp. double-acting) and 3/4 tsp. salt. Sift three times. (Don't rely on a dash of hope and a pinch of trust when it comes to baking—use flour that's proved itself before it enters your kitchen. Before any wheat is bought for Pillsbury's Best, scouts go right out in the harvest fields and send in samples. These are milled into flour, and actually baked into loaves. And—when the flour must pass rigid baking tests 4 to 6 times a day during milling, Pillsbury's Best is BAKED, proven to protect your baking!)

2. Cream 1 c. shortening till light; gradually beat in 1/4 c. sugar till fluffy. 3. Add 4 eggs, one at a time; beat about 1 min. after each. 4. Add dry ingredients alternately with 1 c. milk and 1 tsp. vanilla. Mix well after each addition; beat well at end. (Note the smooth, fluffy texture . . . the delicate, creamy color of your Pillsbury's Best batter . . . assured by hourly color tests during milling!)

5. Divide batter in thirds. To 1/3 add 3/4 tsp. cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. allspice, 1/4 tsp. cloves, and 1/4 tsp. nutmeg; blend well. To second portion add (combined) 2 tsp. sugar, 2 tsp. butter, 1/8 tsp. soda, 1/2 tsp. hot water, and 1 sq. (1 oz.) unsweetened chocolate (melted and cooled); blend well. Leave rest of batter plain. Turn each batter separately into 3 greased, lined 9-in. layer pans . . . and see how fluffy it is! Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) 23 to 30 min. Cool layers. Spread vanilla cream filling between layers; cover top and sides with chocolate frosting. Get Pillsbury's Best from your grocer today—turn "just an other meal" into a special occasion with Pillsbury's Trio Layer Cake!

Save THIRTY STARS from Pillsbury packages. They're good for sterling (solid) silver—other premiums, too! For list, write Pillsbury Flour, Minneapolis.

HOMEWORTH

The Loyal Workers' class of the Presbyterian church will hold its next meeting Feb. 6 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Pilmer.

One death and one birth were reported by Registrar, George W. Glass for the month of December. A daughter, Patricia Ann, was born Dec. 5 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Monter. The lone death was Magdelent Harrison, Dec. 24.

Dr. S. W. Seemann, who has been pastor of the Presbyterian church here for the past 17 years, will submit his resignation at a congregational meeting Sunday, Jan. 25, at the church.

Dr. Seemann plans to retire from the ministry after 36 years of service. He and Mrs. Seemann will go to the Penny Farms, a place maintained for retired ministers and their wives.

John Winder has returned home from the Salem Central Clinic where he underwent an operation.

Mrs. Amanda Glass returned home from the Alliance City hospital Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grimes and daughter, Shirley, and Miss Helen McCallum, have returned home from Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Rastetter of Alliance were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grimes.

Miss Elma Malone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Malone, was honored Thursday evening at a shower at the home of Miss Frances Reese. Approximately 20 friends were present and many gifts were received. Miss Malone is engaged to marry Glenn Babbitt of Cleveland.

NELSON IS "BOSS" ROOSEVELT SAYS

Will Have Final Decision On All Production and Supply Matters

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt was said on high authority today to have made it unmistakably clear to those concerned that he intends to vest in Donald Nelson, chief of the new war production board, final decision on all production and supply matters.

Members of congress have been waiting anxiously for an executive order formally outlining Nelson's duties. Some of the legislators had expressed fear that the president might not delegate such broad authority to Nelson.

There have been reports that agencies within the present defense setup raised objections to subordinating their authority over certain phases of the program. Some army and navy officials were said to have complained privately at the prospect that a civilian would have the final word on such vital matters.

But one well informed official said there was no doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would insist that Nelson be the boss.

How Setup Would Work

As projected by this official, the new setup probably would work this way: Nelson would receive from the army and navy lists of their requirements under the new $6,000,000,000 war production program.

He would sit down at a table with the chief of staff, chief of naval operations and the heads of all the agencies concerned with production and supply.

Preliminary to filling the orders for "must" equipment, he would ascertain the available supply of the necessary basic materials. If there was not enough on hand immediately for all needs, Nelson would apportion the supply between the army and navy.

He would determine, from information furnished him by the heads of the agencies, the new facilities necessary to produce the equipment and materials needed and would order action taken to construct them. At the same time, he would receive reports on the progress of the program and be able to check up on any lags that developed.

STATE WILL SPEED UP REGISTRATION

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Draft boards in Ohio's major cities probably will establish branches to speed the first wartime selective service registration for this nation since the bombing of Pearl Harbor, Lt. Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service head, said today.

He indicated such a step was extremely likely in Cleveland because of the high registration expected there.

Goble said state headquarters had

Benefit Party Arranged

A benefit card party will be given at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday in the K. of P. hall by Treseott Women's Relief Corps No. 34. Anyone interested may attend.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Pearl Nussbaum, Mrs. O. C. Juergens, Mrs. G. H. Mounts, Mrs. Rosella Bates, Mrs. Emma Zimmerman and Mrs. Harry Stratton.

authority to direct enlargement of registration facilities for any board considered inadequately equipped to handle its task efficiently. No such action will be taken until he receives preparation reports required of the state's 330 draft boards five days before the Feb. 16 registration date.

Goble said registrations also could be taken Feb. 14 and 15 if necessary to prevent men from losing time in defense industries.

Speculation over the possibility of a three-day registration of men between the ages of 20 and 44 who did not register last October arose when it was pointed out that men signed up at some 6,300 points in the first registration in October, 1940.

VILLAGE STARTS DRIVE FOR METAL

Columbiana Legion Post Seeks Scrap To Aid In Defense

COLUMBIANA, Jan. 16.—Benjamin Firestone post, American Legion, will conduct a drive for the gathering of scrap metal so badly needed in war industry. Persons having metal of any kind are urged to notify Leo F. Holloway, phone 217, and at a date to be set later, a truck will be sent to collect the metal. This applies to persons residing in the rural areas, as well as to Columbiana citizens.

The post also voted at its Wednesday night meeting to purchase $400 worth of defense bonds. Ray Fisher was appointed chairman of a committee to erect an honor roster board, probably in the public square. Names of young men of the town and township who are in the armed forces of the U. S. A. during the present emergency will be displayed on the board.

The post will again hold its Washington's birthday banquet, to which members of the two service clubs, members of the chamber of commerce and any other interested citizens are annually invited. The event will be held at the post home Monday evening, Feb. 23.

Ray Fisher, Mark Klingensmith and Leo Holloway compose the committee on arrangements. Harrison H. Richardson, Beaver, Pa., will give a talk and show pictures of his trip to Antarctica with Admiral Byrd. Mr. Richardson was the youngest member of the last Byrd expedition.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Haney announce the birth of a son at their home Wednesday morning. The baby will be named Tommy.

The Past Matrons and Patrons club will hold a coverdish supper at the lodge hall Tuesday evening at 6:30.

The local library is collecting books for soldiers and sailors. Fiction, technical and mystery books are desired. The slogan adopted is "Give books that you would like to have yourself." The books are sorted and packed and sent to New York headquarters where they are distributed.

Smash Nipponese Armored Units As British Are Relieved

Australian battle in eastern Semblan yesterday.)

The Japanese continued air raids on Singapore.

Japanese planes were over the island for several hours today and bombs were dropped on several areas. One preliminary report said at least one Japanese fighter was downed.

The ministry of information said the Japanese used 50 bombers, escorted by fighters, in yesterday's attack on Singapore. It said the British downed one plane, probably downed another and damaged three.

The Australians have been in training in Malaya since last February. However, small Commando units of Aussies have been operating in central Malaya for several weeks, spreading destruction behind the Japanese lines.

(The Japanese have claimed the occupation of Gemas, a railway junction in Johore province near the Negri Sembilan border and about 110 miles above Johore strait to the south of which lies Singapore.)

Informed quarters said the British line across the southern end of Malaya now is only 100 miles long which meant, they said, that the British not only had more men per mile to hold the main line but could spare strong patrols to operate in enemy territory.

The news that the Australians had seen action sent a thrill of expectancy through this British stronghold even as its residents prepared to defend it.

On all sides hope was expressed that the Australian reinforcements would be prepared to take the offensive rather than continue the policy of fighting rear guard actions.

The movement of the Australians to the battle zone was described as one of the most stirring yet seen in Malaya.

"Hour after hour truck loads of bronzed Aussies poured through Johore in the highest animal spirits," one observer reported. "This was the moment they had waited for after 12 months of arduous jungle training."

The troops sang and made the thumbs-up sign to Chinese and Malayan children as the trucks swept through hal-deserted villages.

"Flinging the Australians into action at this critical stage of the Malayan campaign acts like a tonic to the tired British troops."

Major General Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australians in Malaya, had a good laugh when he read the Japanese report of his alleged capture during the retreat from Kuala Lumpur when the Japanese still were 200 miles from

The Australian fighting in Negri Sembilan state was described officially as "a local engagement" but reliable sources said it undoubtedly was a skirmish between strong patrols.

Meanwhile, people in Singapore took in good spirit a further tightening of food control which was announced yesterday.

Anticipating an eventual shortage of meats, food controllers today appealed to residents to observe voluntarily two meatless days each week.

Leetonia Lutheran Officers Are Named

LEETONIA, Jan. 16.—At the annual congregational meeting Wednesday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran church, Fred G. Spattholt, W. Dean Weikart and Robert Stambaugh were elected members of the church council for three years. A covered dinner preceded the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bilky announce the birth of a daughter. Mrs. Lester Redfoot and Mrs. Cecilia Lewis entertained the Ladies Aid of St. Paul's Lutheran church at the home of Mrs. Redfoot Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Katherine Mosier left Thursday for an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. L. C. Merrill, at Boston. Richard Bates, 86, fell on the ice Monday and fractured his hip. The first semester of Leetonia High school will be completed today. Examinations have been in progress Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The second semester will begin Monday.

Parole Stark Woman

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Ida Adams of Stark county, serving a manslaughter sentence, was one of four inmates of the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville who were granted paroles yesterday. Her release date is March 15.

Rescind Price Hike

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The Firestone, Goodrich, Goodyear and U. S. Rubber companies have agreed to rescind price increases announced since Jan. 1 on tires for farm machinery. Administrator Leon Henderson reported yesterday.

HUNT SURVIVORS OF SUNKEN SHIP

Coast Guards Press Search
After Report of Second

They also said the plane had dropped food and whisky to some 14 crewmen seen bobbing about on a rough sea abroad a lifeboat and raft and that rescue parties put out, but were unable to locate the tanker.

The Quogue coast guard station then refused further comment, and the fate of the tanker remained cloaked in mystery today.

Meanwhile, all but two of the 40 officers and men aboard the tanker Norrness were rescued and taken to the Newport, R. I., naval base, where Captain Harold Hansen told their story.

Without warning in midnight darkness, the captain said, an unidentified submarine slipped up on his 9,577-ton vessel, formerly of Norwegian registry, and unleashed three torpedoes.

The first struck the Norrness' starboard side, he added, and even while he gave orders to abandon ship the submersible circled—all the while on the surface—and pumped two others into the port side.

It was while the men were being lowered in a lifeboat that Kaare Reinertson and Edcl Bremseth plunged into the sea when the boat spilled. They were not seen again.

Captain Hansen disclosed that his oil-laden ship—still partially afloat—was armed, but that the submarine's attack was so swift that there was no chance to fire.

View of Raider Brief
He did not himself see the submarine until "we already were in the small boats," he said, and was unable to determine its identity because "I only saw it for a couple of minutes."

At a mass interview last night, Third Officer Divino Ask said most of the crew was asleep at the time of the attack—1:30 a. m.—and that "we had no warning."

Before being rescued, he added, "we were in boats and on rafts 12 hours."
All the Norrness survivors were in fair condition, with the exception of Niles Nikelsen, who suffered a fractured knee cap.

TYLER, Tex.—As an experiment a dime was left on the Salvation Army collection booth overnight and although crowds passed the gift board constantly the coin still remained the following morning.

News Briefs

MELBOURNE, Australia — The Melbourne Herald in a tribute to General Douglas MacArthur said that "the gallant delaying action now being fought by defenders of the Philippines under General MacArthur is as inspiring as the defense of Tobruk."

WASHINGTON—Here's one comforting thing about your income tax this year: Since March 15, the regular deadline, will come on a Sunday, you will get one extra day to file returns on 1941 income.

LONDON—Sir Jeremiah Colman, 82, known as "the mustard king," died in his home in Surrey.

ST. LOUIS—Col. John H. Jouett, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, presided today at a meeting of 50 representatives of aviation companies to formulate plans for the smooth flow of war materials into aircraft factories. By 1943, he declared, "Hitler and his stooges are going to see the damndest imponderable mass of war planes they have ever seen."

County Paralysis Drive Under Way

Columbiana county's plans for observing the "March of Dimes" program in behalf of the fight against infantile paralysis were completed here today by P. A. Presco, county chairman.

Assisting Presco on the committee are Donald Althouse, H. E. de Malignon and Russell Hainan, local co-chairman; C. H. Musser, secretary-treasurer; P. R. Corey, chairman at Columbiana; D. C. Mackey, East Palestine, chairman, and Mrs. E. G. Sauerwein, chairman at Leetonia.

Small coin boxes in the form of wishing wells have been distributed throughout the county, in business places and wherever people congregate. School children will carry pasteboard coin holders to their homes.

Individuals are urged to drop a dime into a wishing well to aid in combating the disease which continues to take its toll, particularly among children.

N. I. Walken, State theater manager, in cooperating in the drive, has promised to show a trailer on infantile paralysis.

REDS SMASHING AT NAZI STRONGHOLD

Russians Pressing General Offense Through Ukraine

gloomy new significance for the Germans as Red army spearheads, adopting Nazi encirclement tactics, threatened half a dozen "anchor points" on Adolf Hitler's winter defense line.

Strongholds Endangered
A war map showing the positions of Soviet vanguards revealed all too clearly to Hitler that his strongholds at Kursk, Orel, Bryansk, Roslavl, Vyazma and Rzhev—key cities on a 350-mile defense arc were endangered by the Soviet counter-sweep.

Russian troops who had advanced 100 miles westward from Kalinin in a month recaptured the Volga river town of Selizharovo, 175 miles northwest of Moscow, cut-linking the Germans at Rzhev. Rzhev, 50 miles down the Volga river from Selizharovo, was the northern defense bastion protecting the main German salient at Moshaisk, 57 miles west of Moscow.

Russian troops were reported to have opened a direct front assault on Moshaisk yesterday, and London said heavy fighting raged there today.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, making the first claim of a major Nazi success in weeks, asserted that German infantry had wrested control of "an important locality" from strong Red cavalry forces on the central front.

The high command said more than 1,300 Russians were left dead on the battlefield.

The Soviet Information bureau said 14,000 Germans were slain in the central front and such war equipment as 331 field guns and 50 tanks were seized in the period from Jan. 6-15.

Guerrillas Help

Guerrillas aiding Soviet regulars were officially declared to have killed 120 Germans in a Crimean attack.

German airmen raided the northeast coast of England late yesterday, but British officials described the damage as not extensive.

The Royal Air Force made another night attack on the German ports of Hamburg and Emden.

RAF planes left big fires burning in both ports, while other British bombers pounded objectives in northwest Germany and airdromes in the low countries.

Hitler's high command, acknowledging the attacks, said "there were dead and wounded among the civilian population."

On the North African front, free French troops were reported today for their first land attack on the Germans since the armistice of Compiegne, supporting British imperial and Allied legions battering away at Axis hold-out forces in Halfaya ("Hellfire") pass.

The French were said to be fully equipped with tanks and armored cars, as were the De Gaulle troops who fought against the Italians in Ethiopia and Eritrea to help wreck Premier Mussolini's Italian East Africa empire last year.

Heavy artillery duels were reported as the British attempted to wipe out the Halfaya garrison, a force of 7,000 Germans and Italians.

Far to the west, mobile British columns were moving slowly forward along the Gulf of Sirte coast, battling stiff resistance by rear-guard covering the retreat of Gen. Erwin Rommel's Axis armies.

Premier Mussolini's high command said German and Italian planes inflicted heavy losses on the British at Halfaya pass, along the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, asserting that British columns on the march and massed motorized units had been "bombed and machine-gunned and dispersed."

SENATOR WARNS OF POST-WAR PROBLEMS

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—A warning of national disaster unless war-sired problems are handled correctly has been sounded by Ohio's Republican Senator Robert A. Taft.

De-laying the nation must be safeguarded against possible post-war economic revolution, Taft urged economists to study spiraling price increases, lower standards of living, vastly increased national debt and possible inflation.

Speaking at a meeting of the economists' national committee on monetary policy last night, he added:

"The economic dangers growing out of the war are infinitely greater than those which existed before the war. The failure to handle them correctly may lead much more rapidly and more certainly to national disaster."

He warned that the entire citizenry must be prepared to face less income and a lower standard of living for at least five years and perhaps longer.

BASEBALL NEEDED NOW, IS FDR VIEW

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—President Roosevelt, a baseball fan from way back, urged today that the national sport be kept going during the war.

This was his personal rather than official point of view, expressed in a letter today to Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball high commissioner, who had written on January 14 inquiring what the President had in mind regarding continuance of professional baseball in wartime.

Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that fewer people would be unemployed, that the people would be working harder and longer hours than ever before, and hence should have an opportunity for recreation taking their minds off their work.

He suggested, too, that there be more night games because they would give day workers a chance to see an occasional contest.

Mr. Roosevelt said that 300 teams, using 5,000 to 6,000 players, would be a definite recreational asset to at least 20,000,000 people and in his judgment this was thoroughly worthwhile.

BUTTE, Mont.—Dodd C. DeCamp, 21, lumberjack of Traverse, Mich., made his way in from the Idaho Panhandle after a long sojourn in the isolated territory to learn that the nation had been at war a month. He enlisted at once.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—The best sections of this historic sea-coast city have the greatest numbers of rats. When county officials began a health drive they found fewest rodents in poorer sections. Officials said rich families employed servants who were careless with garbage.

ORANBURG, S. C.—A steam siren, discarded more than 25 years ago as a fire alarm, will be put back in use here for air raid warnings. The siren has a dual tone and can be heard for 10 miles.

Busy Bee Society Has Monthly Rally

WASHINGTONVILLE, Jan. 16—The busy bee society of the Methodist church was entertained at the monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. William Wagenhouser at Leesburg on Friday evening. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Helen Wagenhouser. The business session plans were made for the Father-Son banquet in February.

Contests were enjoyed, with honey won by Mrs. Lloyd Culler. Mrs. Margaret Cox and Mrs. Norman Korn were also winners. The social hour was enjoyed by all. The society will meet next month in the home of Mrs. Clarence Baker who will be assisted by Mrs. Louis Atwood. Tables were in play at the card party given by the Pythian sisters on Tuesday evening.

Prizes for bridge were won by Mrs. Carl Weikart and Raymond Knopp. Prizes for Mrs. Bernard Straub, Mrs. Letonia, and William Grim. Prizes for Mrs. Morris Wisner were also won. The door prize was won by Mrs. H. Greenleaf. Lunch was served. The meeting was held in two sessions.

Mrs. Richard Wilkinson and daughter, Mrs. Helen Santulla, attended the funeral of Mrs. Margaret Williams at Sharon on Saturday afternoon.

Germany Drafts New Workers As Shortage Of Labor Grows

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 16—A labor shortage in Germany is reported constantly becoming more acute in spite of enlistment of 4,500,000 new workers since the start of the war.

In recent weeks there has been an intensification of German efforts to recruit additional laborers from occupied countries. However, it is reported reliably that foreign workers are showing more reluctance to go to Germany.

This, coupled with the fact that the available German labor supply has long since been snapped up, is causing German leaders grave concern. Nazi press dispatches acknowledge the problem.

The Germans' problem is to expand production at the same time they find it necessary to keep calling up new reinforcements to replace losses on the eastern front. During the last few weeks, three new classes totaling 700,000-800,000 men have been called to the colors, leaving new places to be filled in industry and agriculture.

Prisoners Must Work
Thus far the Germans have replaced those called up by using war prisoners and foreign civilian workers as well as women. At the present time it is estimated there are about 2,000,000 foreign laborers in Germany, 1,500,000 war prisoners and perhaps 1,000,000 women workers who before the war were not employed.

The situation will be relieved to some extent, observers say, when hundreds of thousands of Russian prisoners are put to work, but the problem will not be solved because the greatest shortage is in skilled labor.

Many Russians as well as other prisoners are highly skilled, but the Germans are reluctant to trust them in jobs where sabotage might be easy.

Latest figures from the German labor ministry showed 24,000,000 persons employed in the Reich, exclusive of war prisoners. The Frankfurter Zeitung, commenting on this report, said "here still is a great need for workers in numerous branches."

Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter, reviewing the situation in Alsace, referred to "the ever-increasing scarcity of workers." In every branch of work, the newspaper continued, "there is a lack of men and women workers. For instance, the demand for metal workers has risen 50 per cent."

Women In Demand
The article said that the Alsace labor exchange listed nearly 2,500 openings for metal workers helpers in one month while the demand for women helpers rose from 602 to 1,049.

The situation in various other parts of the Reich also is reflected in the increasing number of want ads seeking workers.

shortage, especially of agricultural workers, because the Germans still are holding more than 1,000,000 French war prisoners.

In Serbia the minister of interior forbade discharge of coal miners without government consent. He also has ordered all men who have worked in coal mines four months out of the past three years to report for work in mines again regardless of the type of work they have been doing recently.

For example, the Weser Aircraft Co. of Bremen seeks airplane builders and draftsmen. The Bayrische Motorenwerke in a single ad offered jobs to 21 different kinds of workers. A Berlin factory wants to erect a plant abroad—probably a refinery—and advertises for machine and electrical engineers, construction specialists, material testers, time-study men and bookkeepers.

Occasionally one sees items in the newspapers about such workers as cartoon artists in the motion picture industry being ordered transferred to more essential work.

The need for every available worker is indicated by such decrees as the one issued by the German labor ministry requiring workers to make up time lost during the Christmas and New Year holidays by working overtime without additional pay.

Snow Stays Drifted
Another decree provided that only absolutely necessary street cleaning be done. This applied especially to snow removal.

Some of the German-occupied and other Axis states are experiencing similar difficulties. Dispatches from Budapest mentioned snow heaped high in the streets because of lack of necessary workers for shoveling. The business section was cleared only after additional men were brought to the city from rural districts.

In France there is an acute labor shortage, especially of agricultural workers, because the Germans still are holding more than 1,000,000 French war prisoners.

Dispatches from Budapest mentioned snow heaped high in the streets because of lack of necessary workers for shoveling. The business section was cleared only after additional men were brought to the city from rural districts.

In France there is an acute labor shortage, especially of agricultural workers, because the Germans still are holding more than 1,000,000 French war prisoners.

In Serbia the minister of interior forbade discharge of coal miners without government consent. He also has ordered all men who have worked in coal mines four months out of the past three years to report for work in mines again regardless of the type of work they have been doing recently.

For example, the Weser Aircraft Co. of Bremen seeks airplane builders and draftsmen. The Bayrische Motorenwerke in a single ad offered jobs to 21 different kinds of workers. A Berlin factory wants to erect a plant abroad—probably a refinery—and advertises for machine and electrical engineers, construction specialists, material testers, time-study men and bookkeepers.

Occasionally one sees items in the newspapers about such workers as cartoon artists in the motion picture industry being ordered transferred to more essential work.

The need for every available worker is indicated by such decrees as the one issued by the German labor ministry requiring workers to make up time lost during the Christmas and New Year holidays by working overtime without additional pay.

Snow Stays Drifted
Another decree provided that only absolutely necessary street cleaning be done. This applied especially to snow removal.

Some of the German-occupied and other Axis states are experiencing similar difficulties. ## CAPITAL LEADERS SEE MINE THREAT

Expert Action to Follow In Wake of Submarine Raids by Axis

The expenditure of torpedoes it involved.

The known types of ocean-going submarines in the German and Italian navies are believed to carry a dozen torpedoes. In view of this limited supply, considerable surprise was expressed in naval circles that the raider which sunk the Panamanian tanker Korones off Long Island Wednesday used three torpedoes, even though the ship was less than 10,000 tons.

This was considered a prodigious expenditure of torpedoes. The missiles are extremely costly—the U. S. navy pays $10,000 apiece for those it uses—and an experienced submarine commander is not wont to fire any more than necessary in enemy waters.

The number of torpedoes used in the second reported sinking was not disclosed. Coast guard officials at Quogue, L. I., said merely that a second ship had gone down yesterday 19 miles offshore. The coast guard's report has yet to receive official corroboration at the navy department, officials explaining they had not been given any information on the attack.

Mines Expected

Definite evidence of enemy mining operations has not yet materialized, as far as can be learned from naval announcements. However, World War experience shows that the mines sowed by undersea raiders accounted for one-fourth of their bag.

The 1918 record credits enemy torpedoes with 68,141 tons of shipping in American raids; mines with 52,289 tons, and gunfire or explosives with 29,465 tons, a total of 209,835 tons.

The counter-measures now being taken against enemy mines and raiders are military secrets, and the capital did not look for any report on the success of operations immediately, in line with the war policy of not disclosing such information promptly when it would be of value to the enemy.

The Atlantic submarine foray added a new, if not entirely unexpected, problem to the press of war work that kept President Roosevelt so busy that he cancelled his usual press conference today. The President's virtually uninterrupted concentration upon war matters for the past few days has led to conjecture that some important development or announcement may be in the offing.

Apart from the Atlantic seaway, the situation in the Pacific showed some indications of a little improvement yesterday. British resistance appeared to be stiffening on the Malay peninsula as hard-fighting Australians, previously held in reserve, were thrown into the fray. General Douglas MacArthur hurled back another Japanese assault on his Bataan peninsula position in the Philippines. Additional enemy advances in the Netherlands Indies were indicated, but to offset this, a U. S. submarine sank one of Japan's most modern 17,000 ton liners, apparently in use either as a transport or a converted airplane carrier.

REDUCE TAX LEVIES DOUGHTON'S APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee asked states and municipalities today to consider reducing their tax levies so that individuals could better bear the burden of new federal levies to help finance the war program.

Preparing to start committee consideration of President Roosevelt's request that congress enact a new $7,000,000,000 general tax bill—to be followed by a $2,000,000,000 boost in social security levies—Doughton said:

"The federal government is going to economize on non-defense expenditures and the states, counties and municipalities should do the same thing. That would lighten the burden on many individuals and would help absorb some of the big taxes they are going to have to pay to their federal government."

"We have helped the states with their relief, roads and a lot of other projects in the past and now they might turn around and help us," Doughton suggested, for instance, that state sales taxes could be reduced or eliminated to make way for a general sales tax which has been suggested as one method to raise part of the new revenues. Doughton said that he still did not know when treasury and congressional tax experts would be ready to present a program for the committee to consider, or when Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau would be ready to testify at hearings.

Here and There -- About Town

Kiwanis Discusses War Measures
Gearing its program to war-time conditions, Kiwanis, particularly the Salem club, expects to devote much attention this year to the forum type of meeting for the distribution and discussion of factual information.

The first of a series of these forums was held yesterday at noon following luncheon in the Memorial building. Conducted by Earl S. Kerr, the panel discussion included talks by L. H. Colley on war finances; Wilbur Coy, food; J. M. Kelley, recreation; and Dr. Roy Smucker, medical development.

Warning On Garbage

Sanitary Officer E. J. Kesselmire cautioned residents of the city against the practice of dumping garbage in alleys at the rear of their lots. Persons guilty of such actions are subject to a fine, he warned.

He recommended that the refuse either be burned in furnaces or hauled away by collectors. The officer said that some persons were dumping the garbage at the rear of their yards regularly.

Recent Births

Mr. and Mrs. Lee S. Bowman of R. D. 2, Canfield, are parents of a son born this morning in the Central Clinic.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard of R. D. 5, Salem are parents of a daughter born Tuesday morning at the home. The baby has been named Helen Kathleen.

Sent To California Camp

Paul F. Baltorin, Jr., of 385 S. Union ave., who was recently inducted into the U. S. Army, is now stationed at the infantry replacement training center at Camp Roberts, Calif., having been transferred from the reception center at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

Recital In Youngstown

A number of Salem people are expected to attend the organ recital at Stambaugh auditorium at 3:30 p. m. Sunday by Mable Zehner, organist of the Mansfield Presbyterian church. Assisting in the program will be the Rayen High school a cappella choir.

In Mayor's Court

Dell McCoy of Letonia, arrested by police after he attempted to enter the home of Frank Newhouse on S. Howard ave., by kicking in a screen door, was fined $5 and costs today by Mayor R. R. Johnson and was made to pay for repairs to the door.

Union Workers Aid Defense

Union workers of the Salem area are doing their share toward financing America's war effort. The Steel Workers Organizing Committee, local No. 1538, today reported that the union has purchased its third $100 bond.

Theft Is Reported

Clifford C. Norwood of R. D. 5, Salem, told police that someone yesterday morning stole his billfold, containing $20, while he was taking a shower at the National Sanitary plant, where he is employed.

Enlists In Navy

Richard Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Zimmerman of the Depot rd. has joined the U. S. Navy as apprentice seaman. He has left for the Great Lakes naval training station.

Smoke, But No Fire

Firemen were called to the Book shoe store on E. State st. at 7:10 a. m. today when smoke from a furnace caused an alarm.

Dance for Defense

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 16.—A series of all-college dances to help the defense program will be held at Wittenberg college. Each student will receive a defense stamp for the ten-cent admission fee.

Stamp Sale Light

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Only 300 of the new federal automobile use tax stamps were sold in Columbus yesterday, Harry F. Busey, internal revenue collector, reported.

COUNTY SALARIES ON MONTHLY BASIS

Commissioners Approve Budget of $5407.162 For Year to adjust their office and personnel to the curtailed figure.

Auditor Tisher today issued the regular pay checks to courthouse workers.

According to the commissioners' figures, they have $81,248.64 set aside for transfer to office payrolls for the rest of the year.

Decreases Noted

Among decreases noted in the new appropriation are: County home, from $31,684 to $27,932; charity needs, from $47,746 to $37,750; soldiers burial, from $884 to $850; agriculture, from $7,417 to $6,125; miscellaneous county expenses, from $20,208 to $17,200; assessing of personal property, from $5,602 to $500; and appraisal of real estate, from $1,672 to $1,500.

Commissioners' office expenses were raised from $16,419 to $19,090; the courthouse and jail, from $11,316 to $11,358 and the board of elections, from $28,127 to $36,358.

Victims of Fumes

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16.—The bodies of Mrs. Mary May, 75, and her son, Walter May, 43, were found yesterday, approximately ten days after they died apparently of fumes from a gas heater in a bedroom.

Patrolmen Graduate

COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—Twenty recruits were graduated from the state highway patrol's school yesterday, swelling the patrol's strength to 280 men.

Mrs. Esther Daugherty Found Freedom After 20 Years

MRS. ESTHER DAUGHERTY

Thousands of men and women in the prime of life who should be enjoying the blessings of exuberant health, find themselves in a badly weakened, rundown condition. They are not sick enough to go to bed, but feel tired, draggy and irritable. Their food does not taste right, at times they cannot rest and sometimes they sleep like one drugged, and wake up with a terrible taste in their mouths and feeling so weak and groggy they can scarcely drag themselves out of bed. TON JON has helped thousands of people in this condition regain the joys of splendid health. For instance, Mrs. Esther Daugherty, popular employee of the Dickerson Shoe company, a member of the Church of Christ, a resident of 424 1/2 East Fulton street, Columbus, Ohio, gratefully states: "For 20 years I have suffered from one of the worst cases of constipation I have ever heard of. One of the main reasons why TON JON is so popular is that it is not just one medicine, but three different medicines. The TON JON Health Representative daily is meeting and talking to hundreds of local people here at The Broadway Lease Drug Store, Salem, Ohio."

Carrolls Top Winless Althouse Five In Tight Battle By 41-38

CADETS COP FIRST ROUND IN CLASS B BY TAKING CHINAS

Buckeyes, Trojans Triumph In Other League Tilts

The Carroll Club cagers chalked up another game on the right side of the ledger last night as they downed the winless Althouse Motors, 41-38, on the Memorial building court. The game was a rough one with three players leaving the battle in the late stages for too many fouls.

The Carrolls jumped off to a 15-0 lead before the Motors began to roll, then it became a real ball game. The totals were so close that one bucket and a lone foul shot accounted for the Carrolls' win.

Paced by Chuck Malloy, Bob "Buck" Ritchie and Mike Oana the Carrolls played a good brand of ball to edge the Althouse team. Malloy tossed in 10 points while the others garnered eight apiece.

Sammy Drakulich led the losers in the scoring column with seven fielders and two charity tosses for a 13-point total. Close behind was "Torchy" Nedelka, making his debut in the Class A loop, with 11 points.

In the first Class B game on the card the Carroll Cadets clinched their first round honors as they trimmed the flashy dressed Salem China five, 22-14. It was a close game all the way—this battle between the first and last place teams in the league. The Cadets led only 7-2 at the half. Both teams unlimbered their scoring guns in the second half but the Carrolls, who had the biggest punch, Warren Tullis, five points took scoring honors for the winners while Dave Kachner and Jack Atkinson shared honors for the Chinas, with four tallies apiece.

The Trades Class dropped another one as they bowed to the Buckeyes by a 25-7 count. Dick Ellis paced the winners with 10 markers while the losers point-guarding was well split.

In the final game of the evening, the Trojans upset the rangy Demings outfit, 25-24. In one of the roughest games seen on local courts in some time. It was close all the way and was not decided until the last few seconds when "Pinky" King slashed one through the net.

Bob Scullion led the Trojans with 10 points while D. Readshaw paced the losers with nine.

Second round play will begin next Monday.

BOWLING RESULTS

There were no changes last night in the Commercial league bowling on the Grate alleys as the first three teams all scored shut-outs. The pace-setting Crescent Machines tripped the Recreation, Zimmerman's trounced Ohio Bell and the Jaycees drubbed Shasteen's. J. Arnold of the league-leaders opened his series with a 216. Donbar of Ohio Bell took top honors with a 226.

The fourth place Scott's slipped behind the pack a little as they took only two from the Crescent Machines. J. W. Hillbrand of the winners rolled games of 201 and 218 but a bad game kept his score from reaching the "300" mark. F. Long fired a 200 his second game.

In other games of the evening, Smith's shutout the Sohioans and the Amateur Pros took a pair from the Trades Class.

The Machinists cleared up the Electric Furnace league situation somewhat last night at the Masonic alleys as they knocked off the third place Draftsmen in three games.

Te second place Purchasing department slipped behind the Machinists a little farther as they topped only two from Electrical. Night Shift A took two from Night Shift B as "Doc" Sutherland set the pace with a 218 first game.

In other matches the Transformers trounced Structural twice and Shipping handed the same treatment to the Office five.

ONE OF THE FEW SPECIAL SUBURBAN VALUES REMAINING ON OUR LIST

This property has 10 acres of ground and is located on Lisbon Road about 7 miles from Salem. It has a very good 7-room house, improved with furnace, electricity, good basement, excellent well water at door. Outbuildings include double garage, chicken house, small cow barn.

This home is nicely decorated throughout and is in very good general condition. Its location leaves nothing to be desired, as it is in splendid neighborhood, is protected by adequate shade and has a variety of fruit for home use. Good suburban homes such as this are becoming difficult to find as the demand increases, so act now if interested at all. A rare value at $3,500.

FAMOUS SPHINX OF BASEBALL DROPPED FROM BENGAL LIST

Charley Gehringer, Slick Second Baseman, Is Retired

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT—The Detroit Tigers have retired Charley Gehringer, slick fielding second baseman, by omitting him from their 1942 playing roster, but the door to his return to baseball is more than slightly ajar.

The Detroit management is endeavoring to interest the 38-year-old mechanical man infielder in a coaching job under Manager Del Baker where he conceivably would undergo the usual conditioning process and thus might be available for active duty in an emergency.

But thus far the untalkative Gehringer, pursuing his business as a manufacturer's agent, has been somewhat more than characteristically silent.

Name Missing From List
For the first time in 19 years the name of Gehringer was missing from the Detroit squad list when it was announced yesterday. To fill the second base job the Tigers nominated Jimmy Bloodworth, recently acquired by trade from Washington, and Lambert (Dutch) Meyer, former Texas Christian footballer purchased two years ago.

"Charley has the final word on whether he chooses to remain in baseball," declared General Manager Jack Zeller, "and the coaching job is open for him. Naturally, we want to see how well our younger players can fill the second base job without putting extreme pressure on them in competition with Charley."

All together the Tigers named 34 players, six fewer than last year's quota, to report for spring training, next month at Lakeland, Fla. Other notable absentees are Sgt. Hank Greenberg and Pitchers Bob Uhl and Freddy Hutchinson, all in the nation's armed forces.

Shortstop Fight Seen
On the squad list the Tigers named seven infielders, nine outfielders, 15 pitchers and three catchers. For the shortstop post held mainly in 1941 by Frank Croucher, now with Washington, the club sighted a three-cornered battle involving Murray Franklin and Eric McNair, returning from the farm system, and Billy Hitchcock, purchased from the New York Yankees affiliate at Kansas City.

Rudy York at first base and Pinky Higgins at third are without apparent opposition for jobs, but Zeller said farm talent might be brought up if needed.

Only newcomers among the pitchers is little Roy Henshaw, acquired in the draft, while new outfielders are Roger (Doc) Cramer from Washington and draftee Don Ross, who came up previously to the Tigers as a third baseman.

Salem Frosh Team Topples Alliance

The Salem High frosh squad chalked up another win last night as they trounced the Alliance freshmen, 30-13, on the High school court. The locals jumped off to fast start as Walt Brian and Harry Lodge hooped two buckets each to lead at the end of the first period, 13-3. Don Firth and Charles "Mutt" Schaeffer also contributed to the first quarter scoring.

The second stanza found diminutive Jimmy Appedisian leading the Salem assault with four points. Before the half the game had become rough and in just a few minutes Snodgrass of Alliance had three fouls on him. Both teams were charged with numerous fouls during the course of the game.

The locals, after leading at the half by 24-9, could not seem to click in the third quarter. Alliance was not playing any better brand of ball than they had shown in the first half but the Little Quakers couldn't get going. Their only score in the period was Brian's charity toss. At the end of the frame, the score stood Salem 25, Alliance 12.

The last quarter was somewhat better as Brian and Lodge accounted for all of the five points tallied for the Salem. Alliance was limited to one foul shot and the final score was Salem 30, Alliance 13.

For the Quakers, Walt Brian and Harry Lodge featured with 10 and eight points respectively. Vess paced Alliance with seven markers.

ELMSDALE FIVE IS SOURCE OF WORRY TO SPORTS SCRIBES

Butler County Ghost Team, Sparked by Rachel, Muhlenkamp

By FRITZ HOWELL
COLUMBUS, Jan. 16.—(Wire World)—There's gold in them thar gloves these long winter evenings.... Everywhere you turn an amateur mitt tournament is getting under way, and the promoters' fears that the boys would be too busy drilling or working to compete seem not to have been justified.... Transportation difficulties may force the Dodgers to call off their exhibition trip to Havana next spring....

Hot Stove Warmup
Lon Boudreau, four pounds heavier than last summer, says he has been building up so he will have something to worry off next season.... Indianapolis is reported to be protesting the sale of Johnny McCarthy by the Giants to Columbus. Donnie Bush says Horace Stoneham had promised Johnny to the Indians.... Night baseball was first played at Des Moines, Ia.... Now there isn't any Des Moines club.

Odds—And Some Ends
Latest A. B. C. report is that bowling leagues have converted $189,000 in prize money into defense stamps and congress officials think that's only about a fifth of what has been bought but not reported.... Frank Barbaro, Detroit's quite hopeful promoter who put on that white hope heavyweight tournament, has been given a trophy—for courage.

"Victory" MacArthur's Mos: Important Word
PHILADELPHIA—John (Honus) Lobert coached baseball at West Point when Lt. General Douglas MacArthur was superintendent there and the manager of the National league Phils says "Victory" is the most important word in the vocabulary of the man now leading the gallant Philippine defense.

Once Lobert recalled, Army eked out an 11th-inning victory over Navy and enthusiastic cadets swarmed out of the stands for a snake dance, bowling over MacArthur and knocking him between bleacher rows.

"MacArthur crawled out from beneath the stands," Lobert related, "laughed, patted me on the shoulder, and said: 'Great work, Honus. It was worth two black eyes and two bruised legs to beat the Navy.'"

WOOSTER TRIMS KENT BY 55-34
KENT, Jan. 16.—Wooster defeated Kent State, 55 to 34, last night in the only major college basketball contest in the state. Wooster broke away from the Staters, after a slow first half in which the lead changed hands frequently, and the last period belonged entirely to the visitors. Dale Hudson, Scot forward, was high scorer with 18 points.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Special Notices
IF DISASTER SHOULD STRIKE
 It is up to every citizen to stand behind our local defense and relief agencies. If you own a cot, mattress, stretcher or blankets that you could spare in case of emergency, we urge you to register them now so that they may be called for if needed. List your name, address, phone number and the articles you can furnish with any of the following parties: E. J. Rich, R. L. Hutchison, H. F. Wyckoff or John Litty. The complete list will be filed with the proper committee and the articles will be called for only in case of necessity. Don't wait for an emergency. Do it now.

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

Philip Horton, clothed only in old grey flannel trousers and a pair of sport shoes, wiped the sweat from his eyes with a muddy forearm and stared wearily round the kitchen of Vine cottage. Its brick floor was heaped high with freshly dug earth. He crossed to the window-sill, picking his way between piles of earth. From the window-sill he picked up a bottle of whisky and a cup, half filling the latter with the spirit. He drank it in one huge gulp and went back again to the scullery.

Doors and windows were closed and the curtains drawn. From the far end the brick floor had been torn up, leaving a gaping hole about three feet in diameter. A man's head suddenly appeared in this. His body followed. He, too, was naked to the waist and caked in earth. He carried a piece of paper, like an architect's blue-print, in his grimy hands and was scrutinizing it.

"I reckon we've got about another foot or so to go," he said.

"That's what I mean it, too," nodded Horton. "Slip down and tell Jones to come up for a breather and a drink."

Horton's companion disappeared, lowering himself once more through the hole in the scullery floor, and reappearing a few moments later with a squat Welshman.

"How long d'you reckon it'll take you to dig through the remaining wall of earth?" Horton asked the latter.

"A few minutes if I'm 'lowed to work as I use in the mines," Horton shook his head. "We've got to be careful about noise," he said.

Jones replied, "Another twenty minutes in that case."

The three men squatted uncomfortably against the tumbled litter in the kitchen, drank a generous dose of whisky and water, and then went back to the scullery. Jones dropped down through the hole first, followed by the other whose name was Fielder. Horton coming last of all and pulling a stout basket in after him. The hole from the scullery floor descended like a well for about ten feet, a heavy iron ladder being propped against its side to facilitate entry and exit. At the bottom was a tunnelled shaft sloping gently downward, some three feet in height by two and a half wide.

The tunnel went downward for a distance of some twenty yards and then began to climb, the lowest point being that which lay exactly beneath the cemetery wall. The shaft ended abruptly where a small hurricane lamp was resting on the floor.

Horton, dragging his basket towards him, passed it forward to Fielder who rapidly filled it with a small short-handled spade from a little heap of loosened soil. Horton hitched the rope over his shoulder again and crawled back along the tunnel, dragging the heavy basket behind him, while Jones, taking up a long-handled, pointed spade, began work again on the wall of earth at the end of the tunnel.

This time Horton did not bother to take his load of earth up into the house but scattered it in carefully, equal proportions along the floor of the shaft.

It was half an hour, not twenty minutes, before Jones' spade reached their objective. He drove it forward and it was brought, up short, a dull thud telling them that their work was nearly done.

"Indeed to goodness," nodded the little Welshman grinning over his shoulder, "your reckoning was dead right."

"Thank goodness for that!" growled Horton. "You'll have to loosen up all around it. The thing will be broadside on to us. Be careful not to hit the actual case. We don't want it making a blasted dow."

A quarter of an hour later, the end of the tunnel had widened considerably and a long rectangular object was revealed. The dim light showed it to be a coffin.

Jones thrust a knotty arm into the cavity he had made and pulled at the coffin which swung slowly round, revealing a metal handle. "Give us a hand," Jones said to Fielder, and the two men caught hold of the handle and heaved. Soon it came sliding into the tunnel.

In the gloomy light from the smoky hurricane lamp, the trio found themselves looking at the coffin which contained all that was mortal of Ambrose Pennyfeather.

It took the three men the best part of an hour to drag the heavy coffin up into the scullery. They rested for a while before opening the casket. When the long screws had been withdrawn and the lid was resting in its place merely by its own weight, Fielder glanced at Horton and said nervously, "We don't go no further, sir. We didn't contract for nothin' more."

A sneer appeared on Horton's face as he declared, "All right. Get into the kitchen!"

Horton put on a pair of rubber gloves, then poured himself a generous shot of whisky and drank it off. He tied a clean handkerchief across the lower half of his face and slipped on a pair of goggles. From a roll of cloth on the window-sill he then took a sharp surgical knife, once the property of the Weyland Cottage Hospital, later "borrowed" by the late Henry Huff, and turned resolutely towards the scullery door.

"Gorblimey!" murmured Fielder as he watched Horton disappear into the next room. "I don't like this a bit."

"Well, it's not me nor you that has to do it," observed Jones.

They heard the lid of the coffin thrust back with a muffled sound and then there was a silence. Two minutes passed during which both men smoked furiously. Then they heard the coffin lid being replaced.

A moment later, Horton came in to the room carrying something in one hand.

"Turn on the hot tap," he ordered.

Jones leapt forward and set the tap running, as Horton thrust his gloved hand under the tap with a small package in it.

Taking infinite precautions, and using the freshly washed surgical knife, Horton unwrapped the package in the sink. With the blade he pushed back the numberless folds revealing a wad of clean cotton wool. He flicked back a corner of that covering and there, in the kitchen sink winking up at him, were the hundred and one emeralds which were the pride of Sulungu.

Fielder and Jones stared in horrified amazement at the sight.

Horton picked up the necklace and wrapped it in a clean towel, which he folded carefully into a little packet, wrapped that in ordinary brown paper and tied it with a string.

"All right," he said wearily. "I'm going to get this up to town. Can you shift that thing back by yourselves and fill in the hole? The whole of this place must be cleaned and repainted. There are several days' work ahead of you. I don't want any mistake made."

The two men nodded while Horton, picking up the brown paper parcel containing the Sulungu necklace, walked out of the kitchen, through the hall, and upstairs to have a bath and change before his drive to London.

Though he was aching in every limb and desperately tired, Horton set off in his little car within the hour.

Five minutes after Horton's departure, Sir John Meredith, Yves Blaydes-Steele, and Beef were joined by Inspector Rainbird of the Suffolk County Constabulary who said, "All right, sir. Better get going. He's just left."

"I know," said Sir John. "I heard the car. Do your chaps know what they've got to do?"

The Inspector nodded. "Just grab the two diggers."

"Right," nodded Meredith. "Good luck!"

All along the road to London police cars, parked at intervals in side turnings, noted and reported the progress of the little car in which were travelling Mr. Philip Horton and the necklace of Sulungu.

About a mile behind came Meredith, Yves Blaydes-Steele and Beef in their car. This order was maintained as far as Park Lane where Horton stopped his car outside the residence of Prince Satsul and Anne de Vassignac.

About half an hour before Inspector Rainbird joined Meredith and his two companions in the cemetery, he had presented himself in company with Constable Whistcraft at Weyland Hall. Despite the hour, he rang the bell and, when Stokes appeared, asked if he might see Miss Hailey.

Lady Angela Lanchester slipped on a dressing gown and came down to the hall. "Good morning, Inspector," she said. "This is a strange hour to call."

"Good morning, m'Lady," nodded

The smile vanished from Lady Lanchester's face. "Are you arresting her?" she asked quietly.

Rainbird looked awkward as he replied, "Well m'Lady, I haven't got a warrant exactly, but Sir John told me that we were to ask Miss Hailey to accompany us to the station."

"I see," said Angela. "Very well Stokes, would you ask Miss Hailey to come down?"

"Good heavens!" breathed Angela Lanchester. "I must tell George about this very good news, Inspector."

"It's that, m'Lady. I've not read the note but I'm acquainted with its contents. And now perhaps if I might see Miss Hailey"

The smile vanished from Lady Lanchester's face. "Are you arresting her?" she asked quietly.
